 Out from the endless wilds of Scythia had poured a vast swarm of nomad horsemen, ill-favored, fierce, ruthless, the scions of the desert and seemingly sworn to make a desert of Europe. They were led by Attila, the Scourge Of God, as he called himself, in the tracks of whose horse s hoofs the grass could never grow again, as he proudly boasted. Writers of the time picture to us this savage chief tain as a deformed monster, short, ill-formed, with a large head, swarthy complexion, small, deep-seated eyes, fiat nose, a few hairs in place Of a beard, and with a habit of fiercely rolling his eyes, as if to in spire terror. He had broad shoulders, a square, strong form, and was as powerful in body as he was ready and alert in mind. The man had been born for a conqueror, and Europe was his prey.
