

Case Studies in Human Ecology

By Daniel G. Bates

Springer Jul 1996, 1996. Buch. Book Condition: Neu. 235x155x28 mm. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - This volume was developed to meet a much noted need for accessible case study material for courses in human ecology, cultural ecology, cultural geography, and other subjects increasingly offered to fulfill renewed student and faculty interest in environmental issues. The case studies, all taken from the journal Human Ecology: An Interdisciplinary Journal, represent a broad cross-section of contemporary research. It is tempting but inaccurate to suggest that these represent the 'Best of Human Ecology.' They were selected from among many outstanding possibilities because they worked well with the organization of the book which, in turn, reflects the way in which courses in human ecology are often organized. This book provides a useful sample of case studies in the application of the perspective of human ecology to a wide variety of problems in different regions of the world. University courses in human ecology typically begin with basic concepts pertaining to energy flow, feeding relations, material cycles, population dynamics, and ecosystem properties, and then take up illustrative case studies of human-environmental interactions. These are usually discussed either...
