Alexander was conceived during the Fifth World War and the World people were warring, which leads to a fight for survival. The reasons for the wars are never mentioned, but we can infer that the war was about wealth, control, and power. His birth and natural mother situation will reflect the dire and uncertainty of the times. His mother dies immediately after birth, and he becomes a ward of Mary. In Mary's care, he is given the name of the greatest known warrior of many past centuries, Alexander. Mary basically schools and trains Alexander in world affairs and warfare inspired by her dead husband, Colonel John's aspirations. He is trained in the art of war, but also with an added twist of intellectual training. The child's natural, innate, unusual mental abilities to learn, retain information, analytic abilities six, seven and eight senses creates a one-of-a-kind warrior leader. As Alexander grows, he is tested mentally and physically, and the results are extraordinary. His leadership abilities are a conglomeration of many great leaders of the past, and his warrior abilities also reflect the many great warriors of the past. These attributions are tested during the Examinations to enter the Roughful Military Institute. Thirty-one others and him survived the almost-impossible trials and challenges of the tests and lived. At the school, under Alexander's leadership, his class exceeds every standard the school tests. And after leaving the school, he is recruited to lead a secret special paramilitary unit, a secret weapon controlled and mandated by the World Congress and the World's President. All impossible missions assigned the Operatives under the command of Alexander are completed successfully. As a result, when the President of...
