This is not the same old carpet Upon which we danced at night, These are not the time-worn curtains Which shut out the summer light. All is changed, e en to the table, Where 1 scribbled rhymes of old, That was cherry, this is marble--Ah! t is marble, hard and cold. This soft seat of yielding cushion, This is not my worn old chair Where 1 rocked my babes to slumber With a mother s patient care. But 1 will not sigh in sadness, Will not let my heart grow cold, Soon twill throb again with gladness, Soon these new things will be old. Kind and genial hearts are hov ring O er life s pathway everywhere, They will come and render sacred, Carpet, curtain, table, chair. Flowers of love will spring in beauty To my fancy on...

Great electronic book and useful one. It can be written in straightforward terms rather than difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
