OCLC Number: (OCoLC)56051548 Subject: Wireless communication systems -- United States -- Evaluation. Excerpt: . . . 4 technologies, equipment types, and spectrum bands. In addition to the difficulty that this complex environment poses for federal, state, and local coordination, 85 percent of fire personnel, and nearly as many emergency management technicians, are volunteers with elected leadership. Many of these agencies are small and do not have technical expertise; only the largest of the agencies have engineers and technicians. In the past, a stovepiped, single jurisdiction, or agency-specific communication systems development approach prevailed - resulting in none or less than desired interoperable communications systems. Public safety agencies have historically planned and acquired communications systems for their own jurisdictions without concern for interoperability. This meant that each state and local agency developed communications systems to meet their own requirements, without regard to interoperability requirements to talk to adjacent jurisdictions. For example, a Public Safety Wireless Network (PSWN) analysis of Fire and Emergency Management Services (EMS) communications interoperability found a significant need for coordinated approaches, relationship building, and information 5 sharing. However, the PSWN program...
