If not prevented it always attempted to break the fish behind the fin next the tail; and on one being taken away, it immediately dived in pursuit of more. When fatigued by exertion, it would refuse to fish any longer; and was then rewarded with aa much as it could eat. Otters are found in most parts of the world, and rather differ in size and colour from each other, than in habits or conformation. The beaver is the only quadruped that has a flat broad tail, covered with scales, which serves as a rudder to direct its motions in the water; and that has membranes between the toes on the hind feet only, and none on the fore...
