Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Marketing Activities, Vol. 1: October 1939 A major essential for trading in cotton on a net-weight basis is the adoption of standard strength, weight and size requirements for each type of bagging material permitted. Under such a system, bale ties would be similarly standardized as to strength requirements and weights. Under the present gross - weight system with fixed allowances for tare, there is an incentive to choose cheap, heavy bale - covering materials. These materials fail to withstand the wear and tear of handling and shipment, and the extra weight beyond what actually would be required to protect the cotton adds substantially to transportation and other costs. Costs are further increased by the application of patches to bring the bale tare up to the tare allowances of domestic and foreign markets. These unnecessary costs are in addition to the losses from damaged cotton that result from unsatisfactory protection of the bale contents.
