This sterility is mainly caused by the prevalence of northwesterly gales, which prevent the growth of trees to a distance of about twelve miles from the sea, and affect the vegetation nearly thirty miles inland. The produce of the fishery enables the inhabitants to pay for corn and other Swoden and! POPULATION, EELIGIOK, MANTTFACTOTIES. 265 articles of necessity received from the different countries of Europe. Drontheim, the ancient capital, further north, built almost wholly of wood, is a busy commercial town, with 14, 000 inhabitants. It has an old Gothic cathedral, once an object of great veneration to all Scandinavia, but much dilapidated by fire and time, where the sovereigns are still crowned as kings of Norway. Tromsoe, the chief town of Finmark, on an island within the Arctic circle, is only a village, but publishes a...
