Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from An Examination of Mr. Paine s Writings Mr. Paine, becaufe I do not mean to undertake what that gentleman feems to expeet from his opponents: I certainly thall not attempt to convince the foldiers and faitors that to have their difcharge, and their pay continued for life, will not be preferable to the prefent fyllem. Labouring men will certainly approve his plan of having their families fupported by the public, as thereby they may be enabled to fpend two days more in the week at the alehoufe and, when fiity years of age, receive an additional penfion from the public, wl llch may {till diminilh the necefiity they may be under of continuing their labour. That thefe plans fhould be received with avidity is not very extraor dinary, and that Mr. Paine {hould {elect them from his work, and circulate them in the public prints, as a f pecimen ofhis book. And as the ground on which he challen es his opponents to meet him, is very natural. I {hall certainfy concede to Mr. Paine, thefe important points: I lhall not attempt to prove that ten pounds a year is not a very good t/n ng; I {hall merely content myfelf with thewing, that money raifed and applied in the manner he propofes, would be a very bad thing indeed for the public: and, as it is his financial arrangements which he feems to confider as his rong hold, I {hall venture to take this bull by the horns, and confider Mr. Paine s merit as a financier. But properly to appretiate his merit in this line, it is certainly requifite to afcertain in what light he is to...
