Excerpt from Catalogue of Preparations of Artificial Anatomy, 1841 These Preparations, it is by no means pretended, are calculated entirely to supersede the use of the dead body but from the stamp of usefulness which they have received from the highest authority in France, and the approbation bestowed upon them by the most distinguished anatomists in this country, we feel justified in saying that they may be made highly instrumental in the acquisition of anatomical science to the student, whose facilities for dissection are limited, or whose repugnance to the dissecting room is difficult to be overcome; to the medical practitioner who feels desirous of freshening his knowledge of this important branch of medical education, and to all those out of the profession who wish to become acquainted with the mechanism of the human frame.
