Excerpt from The Collected Works of William Hazlitt, Vol. 12 of 12: Fugitive Writings Where there s a will, there s a way - I said so to myself, as I walked down Chancery-lane, about half-past six o clock on Monday the loth of December, to inquire at Jack Randall s where the fight the next day was to be; and I found the proverb nothing musty in the present instance. I was determined to see this fight, come what would, and see it I did, in great style. It was my first fight, yet it more than answered my expectations. Ladies! It is to you I dedicate this description nor let it seem out of character for the fair to notice the exploits of the brave. Courage and modesty are the old English virtues; and may they never look cold and askance on one another! Think, ye fairest of the fair, loveliest of the lovely kind, ye practisers of soft enchantment, how many more ye kill with poisoned baits than ever fell in the ring; and listen with subdued air and without shuddering, to a tale tragic only in appearance, and sacred to the fancy!
