By Senior Scientist John Campbell

Excerpt from Mineralogy of Southern India The characters of the rock are as follow. Colour: bluish, lead coloured black; with the polished surface jet black nearly, shewing very little of the speckled appearance of black granite, except where the surface is wetted. Fracture irregular and granular, shewing to the lens some minutely lined tabular crystals of Hornblende, and small pearly coloured splintery crystals of felspar. Structure: much the same as black granite, aggregated, of confused imperfectly fibrous and radiating crystals of a lead colour, mixed with similar crystals of pearly felspar. Structure: something resembling that of actinolite: Streak whitish. Infusible by the most intense heat, a few minute specks only intermixing slightly, but becomes whitened: is more brittle than black granite.
