Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Arguments of the York Cheap Transportation Association: In Favor of Senate Bill No. Providing a Board of Railway Commissioners for This State; Made Before the Committee on Railways, of the Senate, March 28, 1976 More public attention than ever before has, during the last year, been given to the nature and extent Of the relations existing between governments and railroad corporations. This has especially been the case in America, where most unusual activity, and at times an unnecessary degree of temper, have characterized the discussion and consequent political action, while the burden of the discussion has related to the unsatisfactory character Of these relations. The tendency of political action has been toward their close definition, and the drawing Of the machinery of transportation more and more within the range of Government control. In Great Britain, the agi tation has led to the creation by Parliament of a Board Of Railway. And Canal Commissioners, which is apparently designed to act as a special tribunal, having cognizance only of certain questions arising between railroad companies as among themselves, or between them and the community....
