Bridge, as Colleague Pastor of the First Congregational Church and Society in Bernardston, Mass. Feb. 18, 1846 As I journey through the pleasant towns and Villages of our beloved commonwealth, I see, on every side, neat churches crowning the hills or sheltered in the valleys - shining in the clear sunlight of winter, like pyramids of snow, or in summer, among the green trees, now seen and now hidden, as we pass along, looking chaste and graceful, like tutelary angels guard ing and blessing the fields and groves and my heart rejoices at the sight. I hail and bless them every one, asking not first, to what denomination they belong, but recognlzmg them each and all as tokens of a religious people centres of Christian light and in?u ence monuments of piety towards God, and means of benevolence, virtue and happiness amongst men; and as a patriot, a Christian, and a man, my heart is enlarged to embrace them all, and all who founded them, and all who frequent them, in...
