She found that her sister had put away De Imitatione Christi, and was at her desk. Writing! To whom To the Editor of the Times, said Nan, laughing at her sisters instantaneous dismay. The Times Are you going to turn a blue-stocking, Nan Oh no; its only about blankets. You can read the letter; do you think he will print it This was the letter which Madge read, and which was written in a sort of handwriting that some editors would be glad to see oftener: - Dear Sir-The Government interfere to punish a milkman who adulterates milk with water; and I wish to put the question in your columns why they should not also punish the manufacturers who dress blankets with arsenic Surely it is a matter of equal importance. Poor people can get along without milk, unless there are very small children in the house; but when they have insufficient food, and insufficient fire, and scant clothes, and perhaps also a leaky roof, a good warm pair of blankets is almost a necessity. You cannot imagine what a compensation it is, especially in weather like the present; but how are the charitably disposed to take such a gift to a poor household when it may become the instrument of death or serious illness Dear Sir, I hope you will call upon the Government to put down this wicked practice; and I am, yours respectfully, AN ENGLISH GIRL. Oh, thats all right, said Madge, who had feared that her sister had taken to literature; thats quite the right thing for you. Of course, a clergymans wife must know all about blankets, and soup-kitchens, and things....
