Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from An Address Delivered Before the Union League in the 24th Ward of the City of Philadelphia: At Its Opening Celebration, May 9, 1863 Gentlemen of the Union League. - On the 1st of March, 1781, it was announced that Articles of Confederation and perpetual Union had been finally ratified and adopted by the thirteen States then engaged in the common struggle of the Revolution. This event filled the whole land with joy. During the seven years of the war of Independence which had elapsed, the Continental Congress had afforded what was at best but a provisional government, and the necessity for another that should unite more effectively and permanently the will, resources and power of the whole country, was not only recognized, but it was solemnly declared by Congress itself that the safety, indeed the very independence of the people depended upon it. Thus, finally, after the slow process of debate in State Legislatures had yielded to the pressure of events, and with the adjustment of the territorial question, and the long delayed assent of Maryland, came the solemn and formal ratification of the form of government, known as the Articles of Confederation. And when we look into these Articles of Confederation, we find the perpetuity of the Union was agreed upon and declared in the most solemn manner, and with a frequency of repetition which, in such an instrument, is as singular as it is impressive. The first object stated in the opening recital is a perpetual Union between the States; and in the final article it is declared that the Union shall be perpetual.
