Reviews

This publication will never be straightforward to get going on looking at but really fun to see. This can be for all those who statte that there had not been a worth looking at. You wont really feel monotony at at any moment of your own time (that's what catalogs are for about should you request me).

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Creighton Chronicle, Vol. 11: January 20, 1920 But the automobile manufacturer cannot hope to build a reputation for his product by advertising alone. Neither can the man. The manufacturer points to the performance of his car to sustain his claims. Try it and see, says he. So is it with the man. It is trial that proves the man, that establishes his reputation, be it good or bad; and life is replete with trials. When we are put to the test, little do we realize that the eyes of the world are upon us, that our fair names hang in the balance, that upon our decision depends our success or failure as men. But perhaps, in such a contingency, the stolid singleness of purpose and the never-failing progress and success of the oak can be an inspiration to us and a guide. Perhaps, an ever-present ambition to become sturdy as the oak can be for us one of the little guide-posts on the foot-path to success. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is a reproduction of an important historical work.
