As affected by plant density and poultry manure

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | As affected by plant density and poultry manure | Inadequate supply of improved cassava propagating materials is a major constraint in cassava production. Cassava has a low multiplication ratio (1:10). Low multiplication ratio of cassava can be overcome using rapid multiplication techniques, like tissue culture and minstem cuttings propagation though with a lot of limitations. The use of macro stems to overcome the problem of low multiplication ratio is a sure alternative....
