Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Personal memories of a boyhood on a farm in southern Michigan and later of his 25 years in the U.S. Air Force as a Non-combatant (without deadly force). From playing the strange game of Soccer at a one-room schoolhouse beginning at the tender age of four to his graduation from High School and entrance into College at the age of 16, there is never a dull moment in his rural life on this farm. It covers work on the farm, part-time employment at a Fishing Tackle plant while working his way through College and all the mistakes in between; i.e., setting a run-away grass fire, shooting a hole in a brand-spanking new trailer-home, and bouncing an arrow off his sister. It was no different in the Military. Paydays and unusual additional duties occupied his life. Totin a .38 Special while classified as a Non-combatant just muddied up the water as to what kind of a Troop he was supposed to be. Within this book, there is an unabashed Homage to the unsung Support Personnel of all kinds: In all our Wars, when the perimeter defendants at outposts faced the prospect of being overrun and reached for a weapon to defend themselves, it made no difference if the words Farrier , Quartermaster , Cook , or Disaster Control were tattooed on their forehead, the shots fired-in-anger at them were just as devastating as if they were real Combat Troops. They were all at risk. . . . They were there and had been ready. Finally, he muses over hero worship at a young age and in memoriam of the Centennial of WW I, describes his Father s service over there as...
