

The Boy Who Sailed to Spain (Paperback)

By Paul Ogarra

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Large Print. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Set in North Africa and Spain in 2015. Masuhuns family have been Christians since before Islam was born, since the time of Augustine of Hippo and the Romans. They live in North Africa where he follows his fathers every footstep loving him and his company at every opportunity. Till one day after the celebration of house mass, in the night hooded men come to their home. In spite of the boys reckless intervention, they brutally slay his father, Afra. The tribe rushes belatedly to the house but Masuhun runs amok once he recovers consciousness, screaming accusing them of cowardice and that they wanted his father dead. On his deathbed Afra charges the boy with going to the stone, in Europe, on which stand the Mother and Child. There to implore her to succour their people as she has done through the millennia in times of persecution and slaughter. The next morning, the distraught boy prepares his tiny craft, with the reluctant aid of an old friend of his father who guards the boats. They launch him into perilous seas where...
