Why not give them a crack at improving the operations of our Federal government A NOTE FOR READERS The content and theme of Apple for President! is purposely quite similar to those in my essays Amazon for President! and Walmart for President! This version, however, has been customized to reflect the unique qualifications and readiness of the Apple Computer management team as the proposed candidate for managing the business operations and fiscal recovery of the U. S. government. This series, The Presidential Essays, offers an opportunity to compare the suitability of several highly qualified candidates capable of managing our way back to fiscal independence.
