Excerpt: . or advisable to pass upon the first contention. VV=hcre a witness is rendered incompetent under section 486, such incompetency only extends to, and forbids his testifying for the purpose of, proving a transaction with or statement by the testator or intestate, as the basis of a claim for or against some party claiming under deceased; that evidence of statements made by deceased, when they amount to verbal acts, may be received upon the question of the testamentary capacity of deceased. Of course, when permitting such evidence to go before a jury, it should be fully instructed as to the purpose for which it is to be received-that it is not a question of the truthfulness of the statement that they are to determine, but whether the statement was made and, if made, its probative force upon the question of testamentary capacity. When-We consider the evident purpose of the enactment of said section 486, it is patent that it was not to exclude evidence of this kind either in any action or in any other proceeding. As was said in Grimshaw v. Kent, 67 Kan. 463, 73 Pac. 92: In response to the issue raised as to the mental capacity of deceased at the time of the execution of the contract, after proof of the execution of the contract by deceased had been made, and after it was shown by defendants that deceased had lived for some time prior to the execution of the...
