Paperback. Condition: New. 102 pages. Hi, my name is Kiwan N. Fitch. I am the CEO of The Kiwan N. Fitch, LLC. I created my company with a simple mission: to equip women in transition with the resources needed for VICTORY! I want them to ACHIEVE success in all areas of your life: mental wellness, physical wellness, education, parenting and economics. I am proud to present Confessions of a Welfare Mom: An Urban Anthology of Personal Experiences. As a nation we are experiencing record numbers of women who are reaching out for assistance, it is a great time to LET YOUR VOICE BE HEARD. Confessions of a Welfare Mom is a book that spotlights women who are currently or have at one point in their life time been on any form of public assistance. This includes: TANF (Temporary Assistance for Needy Families), FI (Family Independence), FOOD STAMPS, GENERAL ASSISTANCE, MEDICAID, and OTHER STATE AND COUNTY RUN PROGRAMS. The book will be a composite of the many faces of welfare. As the Co-Founder and Executive Director of a Nonprofit Organization, I created welfare to work programs, for women who were assigned to our location as a work site as a condition of their obtaining benefits. My coordinator and I made sure that our activities were all in line with assuring the full success of the women who we came in contact with. I began this project first as a way to help them see where the cycle of dependency began and identify where, when and how it will end for them. Then as a way to share my personal story; I too now qualify for Food Stamps for the first time in almost 14 years. As the project progressed, I later opened it up to include women who were no longer...
