British Library. 1 Paperback(s), 2014. soft. Book Condition: New. Rome, 1934. Martin Fawley leaves the American secret service and is recruited as a spy by General Berati, the most feared man in fascist Italy. After a brief encounter with a glamorous yet murderous Italian princess, Fawley's mission takes him to Monaco, where he is quite at home in the casinos and golf courses of Monte Carlo. As the nations of Europe vie for power, Fawley discovers the secret weapon that may determine the outcome of the looming war. Back in print for the first time since the 1930s, this classic thriller from Phillips Oppenheim undoubtedly influenced Ian Fleming's James Bond novels, with its yachts and cocktail parties, its steely hero and brutal assassins, and its cinematic range across the cities of Europe. 288.
