When Paula Sheldon and her husband Karl pull into Joe Hooper s rundown gas pump motel outside Creston, Hooper can t take his eyes off her. And he sure can t figure why a classy guy like Sheldon would check into his dump of a place. But that night he gets an earful when he overhears the Sheldons discussing a robbery with a local ex-con. Hooper is desperate to get away from Creston, even more desperate to spend time with Sheldon s wife. He takes a chance and convinces the Sheldons that he d make a better partner. And everything goes smoothly until the old watchman tries to play hero. It s his own damn fault that Hooper has to shoot him. Paula likes a man who knows how to take charge, and she likes what she sees in Hooper. It s enough to make a guy go a little crazy--crazy enough to do anything. WHOM GODS DESTROY Roy Foley has hated Lola ever since she laughed at him in high school--the poor kid from across the Oklahoma tracks who was filled with ambition and dared to declare his love. Now he s back in town with some scores to settle. By chance he runs into Sid Gardner, another Burk Street kid, who s running alcohol in their dry state and making pretty good money at it. Roy quickly joins him. But Roy also has eyes for Sid s wife, Vida, with her long white-blonde hair and bewitching manner. Together, Roy figures that he and Vida can take over the booze sales from Barney Seaward, the top dog in Big Prairie, and...
