Love and marriage, death and divorce are all found in the pages of this book. Rainbows in the Rain begins with a remembrance of a Christmas during the Second World War. A mother's grieving heart finds healing as she remembers another mother with a baby born to die. This story has been read in many a church around Christmas time by the author's daughter. It has also been read on the radio. The rest of the book is poetry gleaned from a life as a wife, mother, foster-mother, grandmother and friend. Running as a thread throughout the book is a deep love for God and a desire to follow Jesus.
