Conducting border and maritime RD to develop technologies for detecting, preventing, and mitigating terrorist threats is vital to enhancing the security of the nation. ST, the Coast Guard, and DND0 conduct these RD activities and ST has responsibility for coordinating and integrating RD activities across DHS. The Centers of Excellence are a network of university RD centers that provide DHS with tools, expertise, and access to research facilities and laboratories, among other things. GAO was asked to review DHS s border and maritime RD efforts. This report addresses (1) the results of DHS border and maritime security RD efforts and the extent to which DHS has obtained and evaluated feedback on these efforts, and (2) the extent that DHS coordinates its border and maritime RD efforts internally and externally with other federal agencies and the private sector. GAO reviewed completed and ongoing RD project information and documentation from fiscal years 2010 through 2013 and interviewed DHS component officials, among other actions.
