ARTIFICIAL NEURAL MAPS

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: VDM Verlag Dr. Müller | Concepts, Architectures, Applications | The study of artificial neural map formation provides useful tools for biological and statistical data modelling. "Artificial Neural Maps" offers a systematic survey of extended neural map concepts and architectures. In the first part of this work, several new extended neural map architectures are introduced. This kind of modularity has been observed in the organization of the human cortex, where sensory, computational and motor maps are arranged in a...
