DE MEURON, Member of the Grand Council of Geneva. Question I. It is not easy to give a reply to the first of the questions put, in regard to Switzerland. In order to set forth the general measures in force against the corrupters of minors, the procurers for debauchery, and the agents of emigration for immoral purposes, or against employers who expose their employees to temptation, it would be necessary to examine, not one system of legislation only, but twenty-five, since each of the Cantons, or half-Cantons, has its own. I content myself with a general classification, according to the attitude of the law towards procurator proxenetisme) in its widest sense, that is, the fact of facilitating or favouring the debauchery of third persons. One Canton only (Tessin), has conformed to the French and Italian codes, and takes the view that the corruption of persons of full age, capable of understanding the nature of their acts, is no breach of the law. But though the other Cantonal codes speak of proxenetisme, they do not all treat it in the same way. Some accept the German definition, and make the act criminal only when it is habitual, or is done for pay. The Bale code says this expressly, and those of Berne, Schwytz, Schaffhausen, and Thurgovie do so by implication, because they speak of procurator as a metier, which implies habit and also the motive of gain. Others (Fribourg,...
