About our usual proportion - one out of two. The regiment of Laval is always lucky, laughs Raymond d Arnac, as he looks into the blindness of a night opaque as chaos. But in this darkness, he knows straight in front of him lie the fortifications and strong works of the little town of Friburg, manned by the German, crowned with cannon and laden with death. These works consist of walls of unusual thickness, pierced by four sortie-gates, eight heavy bastions with liemi-lunes protecting their curtains, and the usual covered-ways, escarpments and glacis peculiar to the method of fortification invented by that first great master of artillery attack and defense, Monsieur Vauban, the French Engineer.
