Pride Publishing. Paperback. Condition: New. 294 pages. Dimensions: 8.0in. x 5.2in. x 0.7in. My Life Without Garlic Some things in life just might be worth giving up garlic for. It was simple curiosity that led Augustin to the vampire dating site he thought it must be a joke started up by a bunch of weirdos. Man, was he right but it just so happens that those weirdos really are vampires, and when one shows up at his place, Augustin's world is turned upside down. First he's got a psychotic vampire to deal with. Then he's got one who is much more fun hanging around. Except now that Augustin knows that vampires exist, he can't be left alive. Or can he? When an alternative is offered up, Augustin doesn't care for it, either. After all, he doesn't want to be whisked off to some disgusting vampire den. Tony's the vampire next in line to lead the coven. He wants to be a fair man, and that means arguing against killing Augustin. If he's also attracted to the sarcastic, adorable man, where's the harm in that? The attraction between Augustin and Tony is undeniable, but deny it is what they both try to do. Someone is going to have to bend or break. Don't Stake My Life on It Stakes, kilts and holy water Andrew Meyer is in for the time of his life! Radney's tired of being the coven oddball. He had his reasons for being the way he was, and he let those reasons rule his life for centuries. Another mistake almost harming a human he'd been sent to keep an eye on has sent Radney on a mission of self-improvement. He's going to conquer his issues and be the best damned vamp ever! Maybe. Andrew Meyer has the term paper from hell to write. It needs to be original and...
