The current in the open-river section is so varied that reliable results expressing difference in pull required in the comparatively narrow sections and in these wider sections could not be obtained. tion. The greatest pull is exerted when the last control-point is reached, but this does not greatly exceed the pull required at full running speeds. Acceleration And Maximum Rope Pulls Compared with electric railway operation, the rate of acceleration practicable of attainment in towing canal boats is low. Acceleration, however, is relatively unimportant, as the time of run is long compared with the time consumed in accelera Table III gives the maximum and average results obtained in four-, two-, and one-boat tests, both loaded and empty. Towing Machines Tested. In most of our tests Mining Locomotive 15 and Tractors 1 and 3 were used. Comparison was made at speeds and effective pulls as nearly identical as was found practicable. As to meet these conditions the various machines tested required different operating energy, and as change in the energy affected the motor efficiency, the electric losses in the motors in all cases have been deducted from the kilowatt input in determining the mechanical efficiency of the machines. The mechanical loss of the motors and gears in each case...
