Forgotten Books, 2017. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Monthly Report, Offices of Forest Experiment Stations and Dendrology: July, 1924 The field data secured in this study indicate that the natural replacement of the chestnut is assured in practically all cases. The smaller blanks left in the forest through sustain of the chestnut are being filled by the extension of the crowns of adjacent trees, principally oaks. These trees have shown an increased growth nearly twice as great as for the same length of time before the death of the chestnut. In southern New England the larger openings are for the most part being filled by seedlings and sprouts of valuable oaks, white ash and hickory.
