

God or Evolution (Paperback)

By James L Jason

Xulon Press, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. This book tries to objectively access which is more viable? That you and I were made in the image of God, or, as a result of an explosion which took place. This explosion (Big Bang) introduced molten space debris which over time slowly started to coalesce forming larger and larger celestial bodies. These galactic bodies would eventually become trapped, unable to escape the gravitational effects of larger celestial bodies. In our case the earth became trapped by the gravitational force of our sun. As the earth began to cool a single cell formed, this single cell would then repeatedly mutate over the next billion or so years, eventually forming you and me. At the completion of this book, regardless of whether or not you believe in God, the reader would have to objectively access that, by means of the information provided, the probability of one of the two current beliefs, either God or Evolution, becomes an academic pursuit which simply is unsustainable.
