NANOTECHNOLOGY IN VETERINARY SCIENCE

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: VDM Verlag Dr. Müller | Nanotechnology in Veterinary and Animal Sciences | Nanotechnology refers to the use of very tiny (nano-scale) materials in a range of novel ways. Nano' means tiny and nano-particles are tiny particles, more than 8000 times smaller than a human hair. The properties of nano-particles make them suitable for a range of environmental applications, both in terms of improving existing environmental problems or by anticipating and preventing future environmental problems. Some of the...
