What do you learn in the music business in 30 years A lot. James shares stories, tips and inspiration from his 30 year career in the music field as an Army band member in Japan, as well as experiences and lessons learned as a self-employed musician and public school music teacher. About the author: James has been in the music field since 1986, performing and teaching, composing, recording, speaking and writing. In his current position at Falcon High School, he teaches band, orchestra and guitar. Although teaching is his first love, James still finds time to perform and speak at churches, schools and businesses. James Education: - St. Josephs College of Maine; B. S. Business Administration - The Army School of Music; all kinds of music performance and theory - Western State Colorado University; teaching license - Southwestern Oklahoma State University; Masters in Music Education James and his wife have four beautiful children, two of whom are married. He married his high school sweetheart. She is a dental hygienist and occasionally strums a few things on guitar. They have two granddaughters. James is a member of the Colorado Music Educators Association, the Colorado Bandmasters Association, The Pikes Peak Jazz and Swing Society, the American String Teachers Association, the SPCP (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Percussionists) (this one isnt real). He is also a member of the Colorado Italian Musicmasters Association (you have to be a musician and 50 Italian to be inducted). James life-long goal continues to be to act his shoe size, not his age (9 for the record).
